

FEDERAL EXECUTIVE TELEWORK SUMMIT

Of all the telework events you have been invited to this year... this is the one to attend!

Why? This intimate event is designed for your senior-level executive team to work together in building a telework initiative that synergistically coordinates human capital, technology, and facilities.

Work as a team and join industry experts in interactive discussions on designing, deploying and managing successful telework programs.

Your participation is essential to ensure your agency achieves the extensive range of financial, environmental and human capital benefits associated with the effective adoption and integration of telework. This is an opportunity to share ideas with other agency peers and prepare your team to take action on meeting your agency's telework requirements.
